nounced the design tion of Mr. Fitzgerald as eatdidate for Elector, without the accompanying fileshood that "Mr. Webb admits that he is e Know Nothing." Mr. W. has done no such thing -- instead, if we remember distinctly, the position of that question is this, that a correspondent of ours charged Mr. Webb with being a K. N.; the News abused us for that; Mr. Webb denied that he was n K. N., and the News praised him highh, as a high-tened, much abused, regular demo cias, and all that sort of thing, and abused us again roundly for slandering him; our correspon dent (or some one in the Ripon Spur, we forget which) reiterated the charge, and there the muter stood till a printed copy of Mr. W's, letter was sent to us and to other presses. He does not admit that he ever was a K. N .. -- says noth ug shout it whatever; but be he Know Nothing or Know Something, he has written an able letver, which no Buchanan paper in the State dares to let is readers see. It argument is good, and once we published it. As for Mr. Webh's present position, all we have to say is that we are glad to find any peron the thing former errors and declaring for the right, and if, before the election, any twinges of conscience of all visit Mr. Webb's late political cose tellows of the News, and bring them to the right side, we shall be glid to have them vote na our cendidates.

At Bandeiph, Columbia County, on the 8th day of October, JOHN P. CONVERSE, aged 32 years, eldest son o John Converse, of the same place.

In the midst of active business, a young man, without an enemy, of unsulfied integrity, of spoiless white, in the very pride of a yeeman's manhood, by a simple slip of the foot, meets with an accident that, after a few hours of Mering, shocking to contemplate, causes he death.-Ere this, a friend's I umble tribute to his memory, meets the eyes of his mourners, the warm tears will have fallen! like dew drops from the widow and the children, upon the lifeless form, and upon the grave of the husband and the father. The Angel of Death has placked from the hearth-atone a dutial husband, a fond parent, and an affection-ate son and brother. He was one who loved all bearing the name of man, and all loved him. Among the very earliest settlers of the town in which he resided, he has ever been one of the foremost in every good work; his pice, among the young men of his neighborhood, was ever potent; bearing himself meekly, but winning overy-where the beat feelings and wishes from those who might differ from him. The widow and the fatherless oblides bowed with grief, the sorrow stricken parents, the sisters the brothers now weeping for the dead, will be surrounded at the graph and with sympachicing friends, to mingle with the deep grief shedding to pall upon a township.
